Organizing Support to Protect & Expand School Social Work Jobs

Presenters: Michelle Alvarez, MSW, EdD; Stephen A. Karp, LMSW; Dina L. Kastner, MSS, MLSP; Brenda Coble Lindsey, Ed.D, MSW, LCSW

CE Category: 1 Social Work Contact hour

The roles and functions of school social workers are unique within school systems. While school social workers collaborate with other Specialized Instructional Support Personnel (SISP), there are numerous functions that school social workers perform that others cannot. Unfortunately, many school systems do not recognize the full value of school social work services and wrongfully may think that related professions can fill the roles of the school social worker. This webinar will address this issue by presenting proven strategies from the field that have protected existing school social work positions and have expanded positions within school systems. Case examples will be used to illustrate how school social workers can organize support both within and outside of the school system to protect and expand jobs. The presentation will include empowering students and families as allies, gaining community support, lobbying school boards and other public officials, and building coalition with your state NASW chapter. School social workers are wonderful advocates for students and their families. This webinar will help you build similar advocacy skills for yourself,

Cost: SPS Members: Free / Non-SPS Members: $20 / Non-NASW Members: $30

WENDY ELLIS, PH.D.

Project Director, Milken Institute School of Public Health, George Washington University

Since 2015, local coalitions made up of grassroots organizations, public health, health care, social work, education and other sectors have used the Building Community Resilience (BCR) process to address inequities that result in adverse childhood experiences and adverse community environments (the Pair of ACEs). Using the BCR Process community and organizational leaders, leverage data and resources to address the economic, social and environmental factors that contribute to a community's resilience, health and wellbeing. Project Director, Dr. Wendy Ellis will discuss the science, historical and political context that informs these multi-sector initiatives and share practical information from this ground-breaking work. Join us for this important call to action to build a Resilient Albany.

Logistics / Details TBA: Registration, Times, Parking, Lunch, Continuing Ed (CEUs)

Offering health care practitioners and primary physicians as well as those with responsibilities across a wide span of human serving roles a unique opportunity to gain important and useful knowledge about the effects of trauma on brain development, how prevention and trauma informed care can be of significant benefit, and how ACE informed practice can assist with prescriptive treatment and improved use of resources. Also targeted to DSS Caseworkers and Supervisors, Child Welfare Administrators, Clinicians and Therapists, Juvenile Probation, Educators, Direct Care Staff and Supervisors within the non-profit provider sector.
